

Corinthia supports the acquisition of G3 by Oakley Capital

London, UK – 6 August 2025 – Corinthia Global Management (“Corinthia”) announces its role as arranger and lender of credit facilities to support Oakley Capital’s (“Oakley”) acquisition of G3, a global strategic risk advisory services firm.

G3 provides reputational and strategic intelligence, dispute advice, and cyber services to a global institutional client base that includes the world’s largest private equity firms, sovereign wealth funds, listed corporates, and leading law firms.

Led by Michael Bevan and Nick Alcock, the company has delivered strong double-digit growth in recent years, driven by increasing demand for strategic risk advisory services and expansion into high-growth areas such as cyber advisory.

The financing provided by Corinthia supports Oakley’s buyout and G3’s continued international expansion, particularly in the US, and across new strategic segments. Market demand for and penetration of strategic risk advisory and intelligence services is projected to continue its robust growth, driven by evolving geopolitical tensions, regulation and business complexities.

Priyanka Surya, Director, European Investments at Corinthia Global Management, commented:

“We are pleased to support G3 in this exciting new chapter alongside Oakley Capital. With its differentiated global positioning and exceptional client base, G3 stands out as a premier platform in a fast-growing market with high barriers to entry and success. This investment is strongly aligned with Corinthia’s strategy of backing high-quality, middle-market businesses and building lasting relationships with top-tier sponsors. We are proud to partner with Oakley on their inaugural Fund VI transaction.”

The Corinthia deal team included Joseph Buckley, Louis Godest, and Priyanka Surya.
